

Elaflex as refuelling specialist joined IBIA

ELAFLEX is a leading international specialist in refuelling equipment and safe connections – and has become a member of the International Bunkering Industry Association (IBIA), the world's global voice for the bunker industry.

From its headquarters in Hamburg (Germany) they have been providing premium quality bunkering hoses and couplings to worldwide locations since the 1950's. They operate on a global basis through its own network of daughter companies and distributors, offering unrivalled specialist technical support.

ELAFLEX produces safe hose assemblies including pressure tests and certificate with short lead times. The long-lasting products conform to the latest edition of the EN 1765 standard for 'Rubber hose assemblies for oil suction and discharge services'.

Deliverable size range DN 75, 100, 125, 150 and 200. Following current market requirements, all sizes are available ex stock – with L15 pressure rating and electrical continuity grades 'M' (continuous) or 'OHM' (discontinuous), in max. 40 meter lengths. Assemblies can be configured using the excellent product configurator:

For the assembly of the end fittings, ELAFLEX offers reusable SPANNLOC bolted safety clamps and couplings to EN 14420. The SPANNLOC clamps are designed to perfectly fit to the EN 1765 hose dimensions, and can be reassembled in the field, resulting in significant cost savings for the operator. All other required attachment types such as built-in hoses nipples (vulcanised), crimped or swaged ferrules are also available.

Also in the ELAFLEX product range are bespoke Hose Reels from our own production as well as HiFlo ZVA nozzles or MannTek Dry Disconnect Couplings, which together can be supplied as a complete package kit.

In a continuously changing bunker industry, ELAFLEX is committed to bringing a better understanding of the global bunkering industry's needs for performance hoses and couplings, to protect the environment through strong global networking with interested IBIA members – providing state of the art products.
